Veterinary Practice Appraisal

Given the recent economic turbulence that veterinary practice owners, and the veterinary industry in general, have been experiencing, the time is ideal for a Veterinary Practice Appraisal.

We believe assessing the value of your business is important for several reasons:

1. This will assist you in maximizing your current cash flow and practice value. During this economic slide, revenue and profits have been negatively affected. So too has the value of your practice. Establishing a current “benchmark” will help as you try to improve these numbers over the coming years.
2. The veterinary practice market has changed dramatically over the last few years. Risk has increased, financing has grown tighter, buyers are paying less. Getting a handle on how these factors have affected your practice value is crucial.
3. If a practice sale or a partial practice sale/associate buy-in is a possibility in the near future, a current appraisal will allow you to plan accordingly.
4. Useful for estate, financial, or other planning purposes. Presumably, your veterinary practice is a large portion of your net worth. Knowing what this large asset is currently worth will help you and your financial advisors put a proper plan in place.
5. Curiosity.

Our goal is to make the appraisal process as painless as possible. We also strive to make the process educational. Explaining what comprises value, and how to improve the value of your practice is one of the central goals of the process.

A valuation report, as well as detailed recommendations on how to improve cash flow and value, will be included with the assessment of value.

Gatto McFerson, CPAs, is Accredited in Business Valuations (ABV) by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA). This is an accreditation that is rare amongst consultants or appraisers in the veterinary industry.

Please feel free to contact us if you would like to discuss this further.

Summary of Documents Needed for Practice Appraisals

The following summarizes information needed to complete a thorough valuation of a veterinary practice. If electronic versions of the information exist, please include those in addition to or in place of written versions.

A. GENERAL BUSINESS & LEGAL INFORMATION

1. Written summary including the following:
 - Background of the owner(s) of the practice, including veterinary education, number of years in private practice, other degrees or credentials, etc.
 - Chronological history of the practice including key dates or events in the practice's history.
 - Chronological history of the practice facility; including major remodeling projects or additions.
 - Overview of the community and local economy in which the practice exists.
 - Organizational chart or description of the various job categories in the practice and which staff members report to others.
2. If not a sole proprietorship, a copy of stockholder or partnership agreements.
3. Copies of any buy-sell agreements or shareholder's agreements and /or written offers to purchase or sell company stock.
4. Copies of contracts for employed veterinarians and other key personnel, including non-competition agreements.
5. Copies of employee non-compete agreements, if separate from employment contracts. If different versions exist, a copy of each version should be included.

B. FINANCIAL / TAX INFORMATION

1. Depending on the entity structure of your business: Form 1040-Schedule C (sole proprietorship), Form 1065 (partnership), Form 1120 (C corporation) or Form 1120S (S corporation) tax returns for the past 3 years, including depreciation and other supporting schedules.
2. Year-end profit and loss statements and balance sheets for the past 3 years.
3. Year-to-date profit and loss statement(s) and balance sheet(s) for the period since the last tax return.

4. An aged accounts receivable report. Please indicate the amount you expect to be uncollectible—this can be done as a percentage of the total, a dollar amount, or by highlighting individual accounts.
5. Details on all existing loans and leases of the seller, whether a potential buyer would be assuming them or not. Details include original loan date, term, interest rate, and, if a lease, buy-out information.
6. A list and description of other businesses that the practice has an ownership interest in. Examples would include a local emergency clinic or pet cemetery.
7. Copies of any practice valuations or real estate valuations done within the past five years.
8. A scored copy of the enclosed “Specific Company Risk Factors” document.
9. Copies of W-2s and 1099s for the past two years. On 1099s, please indicate what this person was paid for (relief vet, gardener, etc.)
9. Current year payroll register, showing employee name, hourly wage or salary, date of hire, wages paid year-to-date, and position.
10. An estimation of what the seller thinks it would cost to hire a veterinarian to perform his or her veterinary services (as opposed to the time spent performing management duties). In most cases this is between $60,000 and $100,000 depending on how many hours are worked and how much income the seller generates.
11. An estimated cost value for the hospital inventory of drugs, supplies, and pet food (if applicable).

C. KEY PERFORMANCE INDICATORS

1. Key performance indicator information by month for last three complete tax years and year-to-date for current year
 - Total revenue per month
 - Personal production for each doctor
 - ATC (total and by doctor)
 - # trans (total and by doctor)
 - # of new clients

2. Key performance indicator information by year for last three complete tax years and year-to-date for current year
 - Total revenue by category (immunizations, surgery, etc)
 - Total revenue by species
3. # of active clients (those seen within 2 years)
4. # of clients seen per day per veterinarian

D. FACILITY

1. A copy of the lease with the real estate owner. If the lease is expected to change following a sale, detailed information about the expected terms is needed whether you will be assuming them or not.
2. If our firm is to complete a valuation without an on-site visit, photos of the street on which the practice is located, the sign, the parking lot, and a walk through view description of every room in the building detailing furnishings and equipment is requested.
